DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 29-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sato.

With regard to controlling via a control module concurrent operation of a semiconductor test equipment and operation of parametric test instrumentation, as shown in claim 29, Sato teaches controlling via a control module (controller 35) concurrent operation of semiconductor test equipment (wafer chuck 11) and parametric test instrumentation (contactor 12, which has a large number of probe terminals which are brought into contact with electrode pads of chips formed on a wafer, see col. 4, line 10+).

With regard to a control module implemented in software or electronic hardware, as shown in claims 30 and 31, Sato teaches a controller realized by an electronic circuit or a software program (col. 14, lines 49, 50).

With regard to a wafer chuck, as shown in claim 32, Sato teaches a wafer chuck (Fig. 1, wafer chuck 11).

With regard to at least on test probe, as shown in claim 33, Sato teaches a contactor with test probes (Fig. 1, contactor 12).

With regard to a test equipment module, Sato teaches a heater that controls the temperature of wafer chuck (heater 36; col. 7, lines 38-57).

With regard to a parametric test instrumentation module, as shown in claim 35, Sato teaches a heater that controls the temperature of contactor (heater 36, col. 7, lines 38-57).

With regard to a semiconductor test parameter module as shown in claim 36, Sato teaches maintaining a predetermined temperature (col. 7, lines 38-57).

With regard to concurrently managing test data, as shown in claim 37, Sato teaches maintaining the temperature of the wafer chuck and the contactor equal (col. 7, lines 38-57).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 42 and 43 are allowed.
4. Claims 38-41 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 27 August 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant states that Sato does not teach concurrent operation for semiconductor test equipment and parametric test instrumentation. Applicant states that the contactor 12 in Sato is cited as anticipating the parametric test instrumentation in claim 29 and others, when a contactor or prober is defined in the pending application and claims as semiconductor test equipment as shown in claim 32. However, claim 29 does not define a contactor as semiconductor test equipment and claim 32 only defines a prober as one type of semiconductor test equipment. A contactor meets the claim language for parametric test instrumentation in all the claims.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
